

- Your kidney count is a number that your doctor can tell you that could save your life.
- Your kidney count should be 90 or above.
- In South Carolina, 1 in 8 people has kidney disease.
- More than 70 percent of South Carolinians on dialysis are African-American.
- If you have diabetes or high blood pressure, you are at risk for kidney disease.
- Kidney disease can be prevented or delayed.

www.kidneycount.com

- Your kidney count is a number that your doctor can tell you that could save your life.
- Your kidney count should be 90 or above.
- In South Carolina, 1 in 8 people has kidney disease.
- More than 70 percent of South Carolinians on dialysis are African-American.
- If you have diabetes or high blood pressure, you are at risk for kidney disease.
- Kidney disease can be prevented or delayed.

www.kidneycount.com

- Your kidney count is a number that your doctor can tell you that could save your life.
- Your kidney count should be 90 or above.
- In South Carolina, 1 in 8 people has kidney disease.
- More than 70 percent of South Carolinians on dialysis are African-American.
- If you have diabetes or high blood pressure, you are at risk for kidney disease.
- Kidney disease can be prevented or delayed.

www.kidneycount.com

