

About the Coalition ...

The S.C. Carpet Recovery Coalition (CRC) encourages post-consumer carpet recycling by cities, counties and businesses in the state.

South Carolina is a leader for carpet recycling in the Southeast – with several hundred million pounds of carpet recycling capacity.

Nationally, the carpet recycling industry employs 3,300 workers who turn carpet into new products.

We can do more. Encouraging the recovery of carpet in your community will save landfill space and provide economic benefit through the production of value-added goods for the automotive and construction industries.

Why recycle carpet?

Carpet is bulky and will stay in landfills forever. Recycling carpet saves natural resources, conserves landfill space, reduces the dependency on fossil fuels and can save money through reduced disposal costs. Recycling allows a product at the end of its useful life to become a new resource.

Carpet can be made into fiber to produce: new carpet; carpet padding; erosion-control products; and construction material.

Carpet fiber also can be converted into plastic pellets and used in many products including furniture and automotive components – like cam covers manufactured for Ford and other auto engines.
